What to Expect

“My goal is to provide a space where you feel you are welcomed and accepted. I am committed to providing you with the best quality of care. And based on the set of concerns you bring to the first session I will determine if I believe that I have the expertise to assist you with these concerns. If your primary concern is outside of my area of expertise, I will provide referrals for you. Weekly sessions are routinely recommended with the option for twice weekly if needed.”

Note: Specific treatment outcomes are neither implied nor guaranteed.

Confidentiality

It is your right that your sessions and your records about you are kept private. Your confidentiality is protected by the rules of the Therapist’s profession, the Therapist’s personal integrity, and state law--except for a few rare instances. Texas state law requires that you be informed that in certain cases your confidentiality is not protected, and your information may be disclosed to the appropriate authorities/agencies. These cases are:

- * If Therapist has reason to believe that you may harm yourself or others
 - * If Therapist has reason to believe that you are involved in or have knowledge of abuse or neglect of a child; or abuse, neglect or exploitation of a person who is elderly, or has a disability.
- Or
- * If Therapist is ordered to disclose by state or federal courts.
